Thank you to the 95 people that have already completed the survey!

Classroom Communication

We pride ourselves on working together with parents to provide the best educational experience possible at Rosehill. In order to maintain consistency, we have decided every teacher will start communicating 4 main themes starting February 5th. No matter what class your child is in, the teacher will communicate; the main weekly objectives of learning, a guiding question each day to ask your student to help engage in dialogue about their school day, upcoming events, and classroom specific specials schedule. Teachers may include more information than just those four themes, but those will always be included.

SMSD Kindness Challenge Week

This week we will be stressing the act of being kind with our students and staff at Rosehill. The week will start with assemblies on Monday morning to kick-off our Kindness Week challenge.

Students will be asked to focus on different acts of kindness throughout the week. There will be a large heart on the wall in the main hallway for each day of the week. After a student performs an act of kindness they can write their name on a sticky note and attach it to the heart of the day. On Monday, they will be asked to write a nice note or draw a picture or say or do something nice for any adult at Rosehill. On Tuesday, the focus will be to smile at 25 people during the day. On Wednesday, students will be asked to stand up for someone in need or help someone in need. On Thursday, students will need to compliment 5 people during the day. On Friday, students will be asked to do something kind for someone who they might not normally interact with. (such as play together at recess, be a partner during a class activity, compliment them.) Our school goal will be to see if we can get 1000 sticky notes by the end of the day on Friday. The teachers will also distribute heart shaped glasses to each of the students Monday morning. These heart shaped glasses are from a book called Shubert Sees the Best. The premise behind the book is that if we look at others' behavior with "loving eyes," we will see them in a different light and be able to be kinder to them (empathy). If you are interested, the book is available on the Conscious Discipline website (consciousdiscipline.com).
